About this book

This lively book of animals is designed to amuse as well as instruct. Children of all ages are fascinated by the world of animals and they will return to this delightful reference book again and again.

Very young children will enjoy looking at and talking about the amusing illustrations. With the help of an adult, they can be encouraged to identify the animals and read their names.

Older children will find this book helpful and stimulating when they begin to write their own stories and poems. From the pictures, they will be able to learn how and where particular animals live. Unfamiliar, as well as familiar, animals have been included in order to extend children's knowledge of the animal kingdom.

The complete index of all words at the back of the book will encourage children to look up words in alphabetical order. This is most useful when starting to use dictionaries and encyclopedias.

This book provides a wide range of opportunities to read words, spell words and use words. It is an exciting journey into the world of animals.

At the pet shop

A vibrant, cartoon-style illustration of a pet shop. The shop is filled with various animals: birds in cages, fish in tanks, rabbits, cats, dogs, monkeys, and a parrot. A man in a red apron is serving a customer. A young boy is looking at a basket of cats, and a girl is peeking from behind a green box. A large white cat is on the left, and a small dog is in the bottom left. The shop has wooden shelves and a tiled floor.
